SCHATTENSPIEL's current album in limited box edition (50 copies) and jewelcase edition. The box is engraved and contains two buttons, a sticker, four papercards (backside handwritten in Sütterlin) and a booklet. 14 ambient and martial songs feat. REX THE NINTH, BARBAROSSA UMTRUNK, ARVORAR, HERMANN KOPP & IGNIIS. "None of the album tracks can be classified. There are no pigeonholes for that kind of sound. Schattenspiel's former self-designation 'Military Pop' does not fit anymore. What is developing here is genre-transcending music reinforced with collaborations with other well-known artists. The run-of-the-mill military drumming of the old days, the neofolk that sounds like it was made by some strumming bard boring himself to death, all of this is gone. Only Schattenspiel remains: Soft and soulful music suddenly becoming brutal and sinister, full of fervency and inner vision. Playful blaze meets power and sensual pleasures. [...] 'Lichtgestalten' – just as expected – is an album showing a wide gamut of musical styles, skillfully performed, affectionately staged and handled with passion." (Oblivion Zine 2011)

ALEX FERGUSSON – The Castle || DIGI-CD // 4,90 €

Label: Eis & Licht | Origin: Scotland | Time: 32:40 | Release: 2006

The scottish musician presents rocky and bluesy Neofolk. He has an industrial background, as he is one of the founders of Psychic TV and is responsible for Punk classics such as "Action Time Vision" (Alternative TV) and Pop hits such as "Godstar" (Psychic TV). The album was recorded within a few days 'live' in a north-London studio. Thus, the songs come across in a very fresh and honest manner - he wanted to do that album in the same mode of working as he used with Psychic TV in the early 80ies. The result is a very natural, short, but to-the-point album, starting off in an experimental, rocking and subtly psychedelic vein. Tracks 4 and 6 are very 60ies-like - just as if Velvet Underground had risen from the grave and recorded new songs. But every other track brings you good and gently picked folk (tracks 5 and 8), so that you'll have to admit: Alex has found his own unique style on "The Castle." With guest appearance of Rose McDowall on "Let The Sorrow Go."

AREA BOMBARDMENT – In Hoc Signo Vinces || CD // 9,90 €

Label: Lichterklang | Origin: Scotland | Time: 43:32 | Release: 2010

AREA BOMBARDMENT was formed 2007 in Ireland by Michael P. It started out as an experimental music project, taking a large influence from bands such as NON. In that year the „Carpet Bombing“ tape was released, musically it was firmly in the Noise / Dark Ambient style. In 2008 a follow up release entitled „Operation Archangel“ was released. Feeling he had taken this style as far as he could with this release, Michael focused on making music which was more natural and created the atmosphere he desired. Two tracks were recorded for compilation albums and following that the „Iron Will“ album was recorded and released in 2009. This was a big change for the band mixing the early elements of the band with Martial, Electronic and Neofolk. In late 2009 Michael began writing material for a new album. Determined to make a large step forward, he started using much more professional recording and musical equipment. In the winter of 2009/2010 the „In Hoc Signo Vinces“ album was recorded. It is a varied album the main parts of which are Martial but also containing Dark Ambient and Neoclassical style parts and could be compared to such bands as Arditi and Blood Axis. The tracks on the album deal with such themes as Irish and European history, philosophy, war, nature, culture and disaffection from the modern world. It's atmosphere is dark yet positive, igniting the flame of determination and unwillingness to succumb to the values of the modern world, harking back to the ancient values of honour and loyalty. German based „Lichterklang“ label offered to release the album, which was then mastered by Axel Frank (Werkraum). The artwork was created by Haate Kaate (Allerseelen, Svarrogh!)

This is the first full-length album from ARES KINGDOM, an american band featuring members of ORDER FROM CHAOS and VULPECULA. They play thrashy Death/Black Metal. Between the chaotic riffs and meticulous song structure, it's as if the band is constantly treading on the line between order and disorder.

ARNICA – Numancia || MCD // 4,90 €

Label: Ahnster | Origin: Spain | Time: 20:26 | Release: 2010

Freestyle-mCD in oversized foldout-cover with inlays. Numancia was a small castro (name in Spanish for celtibarian village). The inhabitants from Numancia fought against the Roman Empire for more than twenty years. It was 133 b.C. Roma sent their best military man called Escipion to create a siege and destroy Numancia so they could have controlled the entire peninsula. However, when the Romans entered the village, the survivors decided to kill their own children, set their own belongings on fire to end up with their own lives. If the Empire controled Celtiberia they could not control their people. Musically Numancia is a invigorating trip from the magnificence of the village to the final decision of choose to die instead of being conquered. Solid drums and ritual elements are mixed with Heathen tunes the recognizable Ur-Folk sound. All texts are written and sung in Spanish and in the ancient Celtiberian language. After this release to homage our ancestors, Arnica will depart back to the vast mountains of the Pyrenees...

ARNICA / DÉFILÉ DES ÂMES / SVARROGH – South European Folk Compendium || CD // 6,90 €

Label: Ahnster | Origin: Spain / Greece / Bulgaria | Time: 60:20 | Release: 2009

This triple-split CD is a unique compendium of South European folk music, inspired by Balkan, Catalan and Hellenic traditional culture. The sources and the stylistic devices of the three artists are quite different and descending from three different cultural regions, but there is just one intention and one deep mythological spirit, that unites the musicians to build up an axis through the mediterranean sunlit landscapes. On this album you will drown into the ritual, Alpine-Folk shamanism of Arnica, using a wide range of traditional instruments and the spirit of Catalunya - Svarrogh drags you to the deep and dark forests of Bulgaria by slavic chants, where you will meet the god Veles in his wooden shrine ? and you will waft through a droning and apocalyptic haze to the powerful and emotional hellenic spheres of Défilé des Ames from Greece.

ATARAXIA – Lost Atlantis || DIGI-CD // 11,90 €

Label: Twilight Records | Origin: Italy | Time: 51:41 | Release: 2010

After 11 years from its first press, it will be finally available again, in a new digipack edition, digitally mastered, of one of the most appreciated albums of ATARAXIA! "LOST ATLANTIS" embodies the ancestral myth of the well-known sunken land, an inheritance of all our subconscious wherever we come from. Legends say that about 50.000 years ago two important civilizations fought a terrible war leading them to disappearance. The result of all this was being sunken by the oceans. Before disappearing they thought to leave signs to the future inhabitants of the earth in order they wouldn't have done the same mistakes, these traces are present in many ancient buildings like some pyramids in Egypt, Mexico and in some Mediterranean and Oceanic islands. We visited some of those sites, we studied some ancient codex, we mixed the founts more linked to ancient Greece and the disappearance of the Minoic civilization with legends based on the costumes of different civilizations, philosophies, traditions, we trusted our sensitivity and we transformed all of this in a musical suggestion. We have tried to describe the mythic origin of man through symbols creating a pagan opera that owns a sacral taste. The genesis, the beginning, a far away past that could be a sort of warning for the future, the chance that human beings have to cancel everything again without observing, meditating on the signs left by some ancient philosophers, thinkers and wise-men. We have tried to capture the sounds of both the Mediterranean sea and the ocean, you can perceive a timeless suspension, a sort of respect for crystalized things, a strong spiritual atmosphere.

ATARAXIA – Nosce Te Ipsum || CD // 11,90 €

Label: Twilight Records | Origin: Italy | Time: 37:58 | Release: 2008

Nosce Te Ipsum, a new steep into the ancient times of this very important medieval band from Italy! The songs were taken from the 1991 homonym Ataraxia's demotape previously included in « Ad perpetuam rei memoriam » CD. ...the states of mind and heart collected in the pages of a voluminous book, "Propheta". Is destiny driven by accident or by Fortune? A Kafkian succession of questions without answer in a re-created inquisitorial trial of our times, the slow march of a humanity who tries desperately and unsuccessfully to know itself bearing the burden of its own chaotic existence and blindness. Finally, an act of rebellion and courage, an awakened consciousness that could lead to a new birth and refound harmony in the fluid cycle of Nature where every gesture and sound acquires a metaphysical value. Will we be able to transform the rough material into gold? « Each of us, believe me, is just what he chooses to be ». Re-release.

ATARAXIA – Saphir || DIGI-CD // 11,90 €

Label: Twilight Records | Origin: Italy | Time: 59:02 | Release: 2010

Saphir is inspired by the magical, symbolic and mystic nature of gardens. Gardens of all ages linked to different geographic areas (the hanging gardens of Babylon, the Arabian gardens, the medieval hortus conclusum, the zen gardens and the English romantic gardens) have been the starting point of our musical research. The garden has been often represented as an universal door to cross this dimension to enter the one of myth and dream. The harmony governing the elements composing a garden is the same governing the elements composing music and all of this creates beauty. In "Saphir", nature and art are mixed together to contrast an environment and life-style mainly based on what is functional and productive; we focus our attention on the most precious gift the human being should never be obliged to renounce to, that's the freedom to dream and an aesthetic taste for life. Music is rich and nuanced. Classic and flamenco guitars, romantic pianos, pads of atmospheric keyboards, noble sonatas, epic tunes, rich vocal broderies and some eastern and classic percussions (from darbouka, to bendhir, frame-drums, timpani, udu, cymbals and bells) played by the Riccardo Spaggiari, appearing for the very first time in an Ataraxia's album, are the ingredients of this opus.

ATARAXIA – Simphonia Sine Nomine || DIGI-CD // 11,90 €

Label: Twilight Records | Origin: Italy | Time: 44:46 | Release: 2011

Simphonia Sine Nomine seems to be halfway between Gothic and Symphonic Rock. Vocalist Francesca Nicoli sings (in Italian and Latin) over synths, keyboards, electric and acoustic guitars, and occasionally drum machine. The music as a dark 'liturgical' gothic feel much of the time, with lots of minor keys and half-chanted singing, although there are a few brighter songs as well. A very enjoyable album, although it's not for everyone...

BIRCH BOOK – Fortune & Folly || LP // 16,90 €

Label: Ahnsterm | Origin: USA | Time: 53:40 | Release: 2008

LP in gatefold-cover. Limited to 400 copies. This classic Folk milestone also out on vinyl now! Comes in heavy fold-out cover, with 2 exclusive extra-songs. Recorded on San Juan Island of the Pacific Northwest, Fortune & Folly is the fitting second volume of BIRCH BOOK (also known as IN GOWAN RING). Assuming the allegorical emblems of The Wheel of Fortune and The Traveling Fool, Fortune & Folly distill the introspections of a perennial rambler reckoning the Bitter and the Bliss of The Road Less Traveled. Drifting away from the overtly psychedelic, medieval, and soporific atmosphere which typified IN GOWAN RING, Bee displays a more organic, individualistic approach to songwriting. Fortune & Folly blends elements of idiosyncratic folk-pop and outcast-country with brooding layers of sound and sense, yielding a spectral ethereality in a captivating chiaroscuro thick with the visionary allusions of a haunted wanderer. About Birch Book: Variousy labeled 'Wyrd', 'Psychedelic' or 'Avant Folk', IN GOWAN RING extend roots into poetic-folk traditions while cultivating an inimitable, self-attuned writing style that prefigured the new-psyche-folk movement. As poet, pilgrim, progenitor of wyrd-folk and maestro of IN GOWAN RING, Jon Michael Beirth (otherwise B'ee) has developed a homespun sonic tapestry with peculiar richness of vision; recording over ten full length albums and performing throughout North America & Europe in veritable itinerant fashion amidst a dozen years against the grain. As well as composing the original material for BIRCH BOOK & IN GOWAN RING, Bee collects renditions of traditional songs and builds many of the acoustic instruments featured in performances and recordings such as the recent lyre-guitar & leaf cittern. Though largely self-taught, he has didactically studied the music of the Trouvères and Troubadours, the counterpoint of the High Renaissance, and modern orchestration.

BUBEN / ABSTRACTIVE NOISE – Dychotomia || CD-R // 7,90 €

Label: No Angels Prod. | Origin: Belarus / Greece / UK | Time: 52:37 | Release: 2008
This eight-song split CD, an even 4-4 split between Belarusian Vladislav Buben and a combo consisting of members from Greece and the UK called Abstractive Noise. The cheeky title: Buben vs. Abstractive Noise makes it sound like the two are going to be duking it out or interacting in some way but it really is a split, not a collaboration - the first four cuts are by Buben and are some of the most wiggled out and unique hybrid noise/ambient/drone music with a frenetic and choppy percussion that really punctuates the rest of the music, almost overtaking it at times, reminding one of Aphex Twin at his best (in the early-mid 1990s). Abstractive Noise, on the other hand, is quite different in their approach to music - even though one might think that with a name like "Abstractive Noise" that they'd sound really freaky; a vacuum filled with white noise, letting little else in, but when track four ends and number five begins you experience a sudden chill-out. A5 package, pro printed CDR, additional graphic on photo paper inside. Foiled, limited to 110 hand numbered copies.

The only comparisons to early DISSECTING TABLE recordings might be the legendary albums of GRIM and WHITE HOSPITAL. In early 2007 Steinklang released the double-CD "Ultra Materials 1986-1991", which included the first 7", the first LP, the first CD and early compilation tracks. "Early studio works 1986/87"*

Label: UFA Muzak | Origin: Germany | Time: 78:10 | Release: 2011

..."Mittnachtsros´ 1" is a heavily synthesized anthemic / nationalistic / militaristic piece. Think (early) Laibach. "Mittnachtsros´ 2" is more minimalistic with a random sequenced frequency creating a rhythm with a harmonious drone. This track builds and drifts and had me thinking (to myself) "This is bloody good music"! "Erstes Licht" is organ drone is soundtrack music. Points of reference: Philip Glass, Tangerine Dream, John Carpenter..they are all in there. "Die Wilde Jagd" carries on in the same vein, with some excellent looped acoustic guitar coming in the mix...reminded me of Nocturnal Emissions "Stoneface" recordings...." Dieter Müh. Hard cardboarded sleeve, three postcards, limited to 120 copies, pro-CD-R.

FRÄKMÜNDT – Urbärglieder || CD // 9,90 €

Label: Percht | Origin: Switzerland | Time: 66:46 | Release: 2010

"Urbärglieder" is the debut CD of the Swiss Ur-Folk project FRÄKMÜNDT which was born out of the idea to revive old sagas and nearly forgotten songs and atmospheres of the alpine regions of Switzerland. Performed in alemannic central-Swiss dialect, the songs on "Urbärglieder" simulate a journey through landscapes and sagas of the quaint regions of Switzerland. They let you chase through stormwinds with the wild hunt at mount Pilatus or stroll under the paintings of the danse macabre over the Spreuerbridge in Lucerne. One can meet the devil in the Schöllenen gorge and follow the alpine herdsmen during their sad walk down to the valleys in autumn. The album is alternated by two sound-accentuated sagas and two atmospheric pieces, letting one share the horrors of the ghost-house in Stans and the mythical ambiance inside the Mondmilchloch cave. On "Urbärglieder", acoustic guitars, accordion, violin, flutes and various percussion instruments generate melancholic melodies full of nostalgia, but also rousing hymns which invite to dance. The album is very diverse and never gets boring. Something new which was never heard before: Ur-Folk at its best. Digipack.

FRÄKMÜNDT – Uufwärts e d'Föse... || MCD // 4,90 €

Label: Percht | Origin: Switzerland | Time: 26:31 | Release: 2010

The inner-Swiss Ur-Folk group FRÄKMÜNDT is finally back after the amazing debut CD "Urbärglieder"! The new opus is entitled "Uufwärts e d'Föse" (Upward the rocks). In the meantime FRÄKMÜNDT has become a quartet additionally featuring Annell of ELUVEITIE and GODNR.UNIVERSE! on bass-guitar, hurdy-gurdy and flute which is quite enriching for the band. "Uufwärts e d'Föse" is a conceptual album with almost 27 minutes of playing time which takes the listener on an imposing musical journey to untouched alpine areas. As on "Urbärglieder" all tracks are presented in the FRÄKMÜNDT-typical Central-Swiss alemannic dialect. After a non-standard and so-called "Alp-Blessing" ("Aupsäage") which is the intro of the album, the journey goes straight up to the mountains towards twilight and upwards to the rocks ("Uufwärts e d'Föuse"). This track is musically visualized by acoustic guitars, accordion, drums, dreamy hurdy-gurdy melodies and deep male vocals. Having reached the top, a beautiful and mystical night in the mountains awaits the listener ("S'nachtet y") - Melancholic acoustic guitars are paired with a flute and narrative vocals in this track. On the next day the trip continues, accompanied by gleaming shafts of sunlight which are reflected by glaciers and walls of rocks ("Schyne"). This track distinguishes itself by mighty accordion tunes, catchy acoustic guitar riffs and drums. The listener has now deserved to receive some protection and fun within an alpine cabin – the night is near ("Höttehook"). "Höttehook" is a swinging and wild traditional dancing track with a catchy accordion melody and nice acoustic guitars. The end of this unique musical journey is formed by the awareness that it is the most important thing to be proud and free ("Stouz ond frey"). It is a devotional and powerful song with profound hurdy-gurdy parts, rhythmic guitar melodies and catchy accordion tunes. The very end of this unique MCD is a Dark Alpine Ambient track called "Bärgtröim" (Mountain Dreams) which smoothly leads the listener back to the valley. Join the musical trip to Ur-Swiss Alpine areas. The new FRÄKMÜNDT MCD has a playing time of almost 30 minutes and was mastered at Luftschutzkerker / Switzerland. FRÄKMÜNDT features cz of STURMPERCHT / DÄNNÄGÖISCHD / VINTERRIKET / ATOMTRAKT / NEBELKORONA etc. The album was released in a very special packaging with two inlays. With "Uuufwärts e d'Föuse", a varied piece of extraordinary Ur-Folk music was born once again, which perfectly describes the mystic and legendary Alpine areas. MCD in oversized foldout-cover with inlays.

HAUS ARAFNA – New York Rhapsody || CD // 13,90 €

Label: Galakthorrö | Origin: Germany | Time: 45:15 | Release: 2011

This is no typical Haus Arafna album. It has already celebrated its premiere in September 2009 as part of the New York Fashion Week. Haus Arafna had accepted the offer to create the soundtrack for a show featuring the fashion designer Katie Gallagher. Somewhat of an unusual venture into a new environment, and in front of a new audience, this was obviously an exciting challenge for creative artistes, and for "Industrialists", considering the extreme style of expression, a very pleasurable experience. The emphasis laid on the various elements on this album is different to that of the earlier releases. That is why Haus Arafna has preferred to delay the issue of "New York Rhapsody" until after the release of the "official" album "You". Angst-Synthesizer, raw electricity, metal percussion, artfully reduced electronic textures and unusual vocal performances combine into a "sound from the Abyss" with deep ritual undertones. No sign of "Screams'n'Shouts" here. Instead Haus Arafna has created Angst-Pop hits and Industrial Monsters with an extra dose of darkness, almost as if the March into Destruction has to be sweetened somewhat. Well-dressed, of course...

HAUS ARAFNA – You || CD // 13,90 €

Label: Galakthorrö | Origin: Germany | Time: 45:15 | Release: 2010

"You" is an album of contrasts and leads the listener along carefully selected levels of suspense through the full gamut of the Arafna-esque art of sound creation. The spectrum extends from dark jewels which permeate nerve and brain, to great boulders which avalanche their way through the intestines. A peculiar hybrid of various Industrial Music styles forming a malicious monster, remarkable for its changeability and the unexpected. Difficult to control, cunningly applied analogue electronics meet sawing Angst-synthesizer ensembles ingeniously accompanying scream, -speech, -distortion vocals to the beat of noise and steel. That has proved itself, but today's music from Haus Arafna is generally more advanced, more to the point. All probably created just for "You".

HEXPEROS – The Veil Of Queen Mab || DIGI-CD // 12,90 €

Label: Equilibrium Music | Origin: Italy | Time: 47:47 | Release: 2010

Hexperos utilizes classical instruments, fairy tale themes, and dreamily operatic vocals to weave a gothic spell of enchantment entitled The Veil of Queen Mab... and it is exquisite. Vocalist Alessandra Santovito is a jewel. Whether singing in English, Italian, or Latin, her voice is strong, clear, emotional, and completely mesmerizing. You don't have to know the language to appreciate the passion. The album opens with the lush "The Fairy Appears," featuring a dreamy harp and string section. You can almost see the glow of the fairy approaching through the shadowy forest. "Queen Mab" is darker, as deserving of the fairy queen. The music is lovely, full of epic crescendos and almost military sounding percussion. "Moon Spell" seems aptly named as the tribal percussion and gentle harp and strings inspire thoughts of a coven of beautiful young witches dancing a circle beneath the soft light of the full moon. "Nocturne" feels the most sinister of the bunch, its deliberate beat and frantic bowing giving the feeling that something dangerous is about to happen. But the most emotional of all the songs is the very last one on the album, "Astuiana," with classical guitar provided by Riccardo Prencipe. It is simple, short and sweet, guitar and vocals, but it sounds like the kind of song you'd hope to hear as you walk down a softly lit street in a cozy villa. It sounds like home. The Veil of Queen Mab is exactly what it was designed to be: timeless, otherworldly, and moving. Santovito's vocals play perfectly with the chamber orchestra and inspire the mind to travel back in time to a place where magic was more than myth.

IN GOWAN RING – Exits & Entrances || 2CD // 15,90 €

Label: Ahnstern | Origin: USA | Time 155:57 | Release: 2007

Jon Michael B'Eirth ( B' - IN GOWAN RING / BIRCH BOOK) is one of the last of a dying breed, that of the wandering minstrel. at the same time he is one of the first, one of the founders of a new generation of Folk musicians, gently growing out of the early nineties, after a worldwide, for 15 years lasting dark era of no ambitious Folkrock music at all. approaching the middle of the 70ies, all the great Folk-Rock bands, Songwriters and Minstrels either disappeared or started to drift into triviality (beside a very few exceptions) and the darkness in Folk should last up to the late 80ies/early 90ies, when artists from the early World Serpent label recovered their roots out of the late 60ies/early 70ies era. this was the time, when the young B' joined World Serpent and within only 2 albums, he got one of the most important acts on that label and for the whole growing scene. from the very beginning until today he was the lonesome wandering minstrel and with his heartbreaking balads and Psychedelic Folk tunes he occupied many hearts over the past 15 years. IN GOWAN RING is not only unique because of B's outrider position, he is also a perfectionist and a highly professional autodidact. he is one of the very few persons I ever met, who plays all imaginable instruments and who is even able to build and (re)construct these instruments himself. a unique genius with a big heart full of sadness and flowers... Exists & Entrances is a retrospective through the years 1994 to 2003. all 40 songs and 157 minutes have never been released officially before, only the artist himself gave away some copies on CDR. on several songs B' was performing with Michael Moinyhan & Annabel Lee (BLOOD AXIS / ALRAUNE), with Markus Wolff (WALDTEUFEL) and other friends around his magical circle of Folk freaks. besides several traditional songs, this compilation also includes coverversions from songs by great 60ies/70ies Progressive Folk artists and songwriters, like THE INCREDIBLE STRING BAND, STRAWBS, VASHTI BUNYAN, NICK DRAKE, FRED NIEL, ROD MCKUEN, as well as coverversions from PSYCHIC TV, LEGENDARY PINK DOTS, Brian Castillo (JARBOE) and 17 PYGMIES. - all songs were remastered by Axel Frank (WERKRAUM) in the Blue Lounge Studios/Berlin.

IN SCISSORS – Mnemosyne And The Structure Of Time || DIGI-CD // 11,90 €

Label: Zoharum | Origin: Greece | Time: 62:21 | Release: 2010

"Mnemosyne & The Structure Of Time" is a translation of the scenes that preceded the Earth's decline in "Orbis Terrarum Requiem" into the sounds of iNsCissorS' "Cinematic Ambient" where Mnemosyne, the ancient Hellenic Titan goddess of memory and remembrance and the inventress of language and words orchestrates the sequence of events and guides you throughout the complex cluster of the structure of time downwards to her lake in Hades where initiates used to drink in order to remember and bear memories along their journey through life.

iNsCissorS' third full-length album is a new journey through places beyond the Earth's surface composed and performed by Vincent Andelmoth but with the also greatly important feature and additional composing and arrangements of Jason Andelmoth. Angel W. Black features giving her own enchanting touch with her astonishing voice either when lamenting as a queen that passed to silence or when invoking Hecate from Hades! Finally, as in every album the artwork is an inseparable part of the concept of iNsCissorS. This time the images cloaking the music are designed by the well known photographer/image maker John Santerineross (www.santerineross.com) who gave life to the image of Mnemosyne in his own unique way capturing the atmosphere of the album through his camera and translating it to another work of art!

ION – Immaculada || DIGI-CD // 12,90 €

Label: Equilibrium Music | Origin: Ireland | Time: 50:27 | Release: 2010

Duncan Patterson returns, leading the entity known as Ion. On "Immaculada", the lone travelling musician has again collected instrumental and vocal souvenirs from his numerous destinations to illustrate the memoirs of his quest. Four years past since "Madre, Protégenos", Duncan Patterson returns, leading the entity known as Ion. On "Immaculada", the lone travelling musician has again collected instrumental and vocal souvenirs from his numerous destinations to illustrate the memoirs of his quest. "Immaculada" was written in a period I was travelling back and forth between Ireland and Greece. The album documents personal experiences of that time, set to introspective and reflective ballads. Hypnotic and alluring, the album balances both the freshness of Irish landscapes and the warmth of Mediterranean sunbathed seashores, as its haunting Celtic vibe thrives and builds upon tribal rhythmic patterns. Much like its predecessor, the straightforward and minimalistic overall tone of the album is misleading, as its layered complexity and resonant harmonies reveal themselves at each listen, one mystery at a time, and one step closer to the end of this spiritual quest. Ion has gathered around it an enormous amount of talent, both in the many musicians that have taken part in "Immaculada" and in the group of singers that bring words to life, this time lead by the Irish Lisa Cuthbert. Her heartfelt performances are occasionally accompanied by her sister Aoife Cuthbert, with Mark Kelson (of The Eternal) and gothic/alternative muse Vic Anselmo, providing additional outstanding contributions to the album, among other voices from Argentina, Mexico, Romania or Brazil. Mostly recorded in the Portuguese countryside and in Dublin city, the intricate instrumental backbone is mainly constructed out of traditional instruments. With the mandolin family taking center stage, the tracks have been arranged to incorporate ethnic instrumentation (flutes, uilleann pipes) which contrast with the sparse orchestration supplied by cello, violin, acoustic guitars, keyboard pads and piano, supported by the earthbound pulse of the percussion. "Immaculada" is a collection of slow motion mysterious ballads, balancing light and shade, salvation and loss, beautifully crafted by gifted artists scattered over the world.

Label: SkullLine | Origin: Italy | Time: 39:14 | Release: 2011

CD in jewel case, white tray and 4 page booklet. Handnumbered and limited to 500 copies. In classical Roman religion a genius loci was the protective spirit of a place. The concept was regarded as something supernatural linked to a place or object of worship. Over time the meaning has changed, for genius loci refers to the cultural significance and then the emotional, which is attributed to a site, for an area or city, usually refers to a location's distinctive atmosphere, or a "spirit of place", rather than necessarily a guardian spirit. It is therefore an expression of "character" of a place, its characteristics interwoven with the habits and customs of the people who live there. In this case assumes the role of genius loci which takes time to establish contact with our ancestors. The CD presents an introspective journey through martial ambient and ritualistic epic sounds, to reflect and find a contact between man and the protection of the place.

LES FRAGMENTS DE LA NUIT – Demain, C'Était Hier || DIGI-CD // 12,90 €

Label: Equilibrium Music | Origin: France | Time: 50:07 | Release: 2010

Les Fragments de la Nuit return with their new album! "Demain, c'était Hier" perpetuates their timeless musical quest, blending the radiance of the stars with the dark forces that lurk in the night. The French ensemble have kept faithful to their trademark style, in which pulsing piano chords set the pace for the string-work woven by the cellist and the three violinists, haunted by female choirs that surface on occasion. Yet, contrary to its predecessor, which mostly gathered pieces composed over the years, "Demain, c'était Hier" was devised as a complete opus, giving way to longer and more elaborate compositions. Although challenging in its complexity, "Demain, c'était Hier" is nevertheless immediately engaging, building a vibrant soundtrack to a tale of mystery and suspense. The album holds quiet, melancholy-driven moments - such as those found on Teletemps or Cyrus B, emphasized by beautiful violin solos, or the title track's slow motion waltz - that flow into stirring, violent passages on tracks like Lunistice or Des Restes Vivaces. Halfway through the record, Allegra Aeternae offers an epic crescendo, complete with choir, percussion and French horn, immediately preceding the eerie Marche Nocturne with its wickedly ceremonial atmosphere. Such variety is testimony to the band's ability to take Contemporary / Neo-Classical music beyond its typical standards, by adding to this genre other stylistic references, some common to Post-Rock, Pop or even Metal, and thus bringing together elements that recall the works of composers like Steve Reich, Philip Glass or Arvo Part with those of formations such as Godspeed You! Black Emperor, Balanescu Quartet or even the sinister cult-band Magma. "Demain, c'était Hier" discloses a unique musical universe that takes form in an overpowering nocturnal masterpiece. On Digipak CD, with illustrations by Aurélien Police.

Ô PARADIS – Carreteras || CD // 12,90 €

Label: Old Europa Cafe | Origin: Spain | Time: 41:23 | Release: 2012

Carreteras ("Roads" in English) is the a trip of Ô Paradis on secondary roads leading to the unknown. The hardships of fleeing of the wild animal that devours the speech of men. With a sound more electronic than usual for Demian's project, this work invites us to drive without fear to the horizons of our deepest longing. Digipack.

Ô PARADIS – Personnas || CD // 12,90 €

Label: Old Europa Cafe | Origin: Spain | Time: 56:19 | Release: 2012

There is no resignation but acceptance in the reflections that are held throughout the ten songs from this album by Ô Paradis called "Personnas". Each song is an experience, an interaction with a real person. It is interesting to deepen into the network of experiences and emotions exchange that arouse in us, as in the internal dialogue where we visualize the people we refer, we discover that actually we talk only about ourselves, a ghost, an identity that felt unreal. We are soul and we must move away from the limited perception of that identity. Musically, this work can and should not be compared or labeled to anything else by this author, it sounds anyway like Ô Paradis and this is how the author has elaborated it, free from the past and the future. A new chapter in the Pop-Electronic and Romantic-Psychadelia of this great Catalonian artist. The album comes in a beautiful six panel digipack with a little explanation for each track. Limited to 300 copies. Digipack.

Label: Ahnster | Origin: Portugal | Time: 62:42 | Release: 2007

The northern portuguese Sangre Cavallum return with a new and outstanding folk album. It is titled "Veleno de Teixo" meaning Yew Poison and it is a collection of tributes to women and to the cult of mother-goddess in pre-Christian era. "Veleno de Teixo" contains a brand-new set of 16 powerful songs between pagan folk and power-psych atmospheres. Inspired by the music and ethnography of their homeland Callaëcia/northern Portugal. It is laboriously produced, capturing the revolutionary minds of these musicians. Among many traditional instruments they play the hurdy-gurdy, bagpipes, flutes, folkloric guitars, war-drums and many times these acoustic instruments are transformed with heavy distortions and meet the psychedelic bass and vintage guitars. It also features the new singer Emanuel Melo da Cunha on a fine debut. "Veleno de Teixo" is a step forward in their wonderful path and a pleasing example of how tradition is a living thing when folklore meets folk rock or dark industrial music. Includes great artwork and a 16 page booklet with psych-photo art and beautiful texts. CD in 6-side digipack with 16-page booklet.

SIMULACRA – There Is A Fountain Filled With Blood || CD // 9,90 €

Label: ConSouling Sounds / No Angels Prod. | Origin: Belgium | Time: 47:10 | Release: 2010

Degradation, degeneration, fear, sadness, loneliness, the end... these and many other negativities, "dressed in a dark ambient garment" can be felt in the new work of Simulacra. The five foggy pieces of work that overwhelm the listener with a feeling of a total solitariness while waiting for something that is not avoidable and can't be stopped create the musical whole. The sounds used in the new album of Simulacra are, as usual, the minimalist form of dark ambient, that emanates with hypnotic attraction. The main motif of the new album is a fountain filled with blood that symbolizes the source of death, the place we constantly head on in our gloomy existential pilgrimage. The atmosphere of the album grabs the listener's heart... to stop its beating with one grip. Limited to 500 copies.

SKROL – New Laws, New Orders || DIGI-CD // 11,90 €

Label: Twilight Records | Czech Republic | Time: 52:14 | Release: 2009

„New Laws, New Orders“ was originally an instrumental suite of Vladimir Hirsch, created in the beginning of 2000. Later, some of tracks from that composition were together with some unreleased pieces from the period 1996-1999 reworked as fully conceptual title of the ensemble. SKROL majestic and uncompromising music is based on specific melodiousness and orchestration of contemporary neoclassical music, situated in the arch of industrial ambient and brutalized by noises and modern technology sounds. This album represents some "swan song" of the band, that definitely discontinues the activities by it. Probably, that is why musicians eclectically capitalise here all the forms used until now.

Label: Percht | Origin: Austria | Time: 78:43 | Release: 2008

"A wilde Zeit" is a anthology, a early-years collection of rare songs and long deleted vinyls from the inventors of ALPINE FOLK music. The CD includes most songs from early 2003 until end of 2005, except the first LP/CD "Stürm ins Leben wild hinein". "A wilde Zeit" includes all 7", many songs from the MLP "Alpine Bann- und Segensprüche" and several compilation tracks, as well as one unreleased song. This CD was originally released in a limited edition of 100 copies in wooden case and is released now in a (partially) remastered and widely expanded version. The CD comes in a 6-side digipack with stunning artwork. "A wilde Zeit" drags you away into the dark forests around the holy mount Untersberg, with all his fairies and strange creatures. Many songs are telling alpine tales and legends from long-forgotten times. Some songs are martial hymns for mountain trolls, others are drinking songs for wild hunters and creepy creatures.

STURMPERCHT – Schattenlieder || CD // 11,90 €

Label: Percht | Origin: Austria | Time: 78:00 | Release: 2010

Three years have passed since Sturmpercht released their cult-album "Geister im Waldgebirg". Now the masters of ALPINE FOLK are back with their new album "Schattenlieder - eine kleine Nachtmusik für Waldteufel und Berggeister". The album features 20 diverse and unique songs full of alpine mystic, heathen legends and tales about strange fairies and pagan rites. "Schattenlieder" entrains you into deep forests, arcane mountains and dark chasms and guides you to hidden places in the depth of the central european forests, where hunters meet strange creatures from dusk til dawn. The atmosphere of the album varies between gnarled songs about creepy fairies, catchy folk hymns and dark songs about the hard life in high alpine regions. The lyrics deal with alpine myths, forest tales and hunter sagas. "Schattenlieder" is the perfect "soundtrack" for misty autumn evenings as well as for dark winter nights. The album features a large variety of instruments and sounds: obscure, strange, folky, psychedelic, but always original and weird, in Sturmpercht's very unique way. "Schattenlieder" is a completely unpredictable album - each track is a "standalone", but contributes to the overall ambience of this alpine folk masterpiece and in the end the album creates a round, whole atmosphere. With almost 80 minutes of scary/dreamy folk songs, the album definitely sets a new benchmark within the Alpine Folk genre. On "Schattenlieder" Sturmpercht proudly introduce their new band-member: Waldwudz alias cz of Vinterriket / Atomtrakt / Nebelkorona / Dannagoischd / Battle Dagorath... "Schattenlieder" was again supported by several Sturmpercht-friends, first of all Gerhard Hallstatt, who helped the band a lot from the beginning on, Markus Wolff (Waldteufel), Amica, and Meri Tadic of Eluveitie.

SVARROGH – Balkan Renaissance || CD // 9,90 €

Label: Ahnstern | Origin: Bulgaria | Time: 73:18 | Release: 2007

The bulgarian Black Folklore ensemble Svarrogh of Dimo Dimov has recorded another masterpiece of Ritual Folk music. "Balkan Renaissance" is already the 4th Svarrogh album under the banner of the god of the sun. This mystic sound-journey drags you along to the ancient heart of the Balkan mountains, its caves, rivers, villages and people with their deep mythological roots. Svarrogh's sound is absolutely unique, not only because of the beautiful mandoline-playing and the bagpipes, mixed with droning synths, which evoke the return of the sun. Svarrogh creates a musical look through a grey window to discover the dark past of Bulgaria's 19th century and its Renaissance, after years of osman oppression. On "Balkan Renaissance" you can listen to original passages of famous bulgarian poets and artists like Dora Gabe, Elisaveta Bagryan, Elin Pelin, Dimitar Talev or the amazing poems of Ivan Vazov. On this album, Dimo Dimov also pays a tribute to the genius music of Allerseele with the song "Kamerad". And as a special feature, the CD will also contain a so called Martenitsi. Martenitsa is a Bulgarian heathen/pagan tradition related to March 1, which has its origin in the establishment of the Bulgarian state in 681 AD. Mart is the Bulgarian word for "March". According to Bulgarian folklore, the month March marks the beginning of springtime. Therefore, the first day of March is a traditional holiday associated with sending off the winter and welcoming the spring. Key-figures in these ancient traditional rites are the Kukeri, the demons who banish winter and invite spring and fertility. The Kukeri are the Balkan counterpart to the Austrian and south Bavarian Perchten. This album is full of traditional-, pagan- and ritual Folk music, Neo-Classical songs, Martial drummings and it has even some Industrial moments.

SVARROGH – Temple Of The Sun || DIGI-MCD // 6,90 €

Label: Ahnstern | Origin: Bulgaria | Time: 21:40 | Release: 2007

Bells and whispers are droning through empty places, through empty cities. Black Forests, silver skies, and deep blue seas down grey, abandoned vastness into a flow of lightened wine and honey. "Temple of the Sun" is a decadent and transcendental journey with mandoline, tamboura, mighty synths, bulgarian folklore, deep balcan voices and european ambient as well as blizzard guitars and several elements from the black metal past of Svarrogh. This mini album is a macrocosmic european theme - although still mainly bulgarian and balcan - a gathering of pagan culture with fragments from modern world. Wine and honey will flow through grey streets, through cities of glass, weeping giants cry out in sorrow - welcome to Svarrogh's temple of decadence! This mini-Album also features some extraordinary guest vocals: Gerhard (Allerseelen - Aut), Valerio (Symbiosis - Ita), Juris (Beverina - Lv), B.Ardo & Rangel (Sangre Cavallum - Por). All these artists participate in their own native languages.

SVARROGH – Yer Su || DIGI-CD // 9,90 €

Label: Ahnstern | Origin: Bulgaria | Time: 75:28 | Release: 2008

"Yer Su" is the 5th full length bulgarian folklore avantgarde doctrine and the 3rd release under the banner of the bearer of european heritage Ahnstern. Svarrogh (Dimo Dimov) presents here a very complex post folk experience, trully dedicated to the holy earth-water Yer Su from the mystic and ancient bulgarian pantheon of Tangra - nonetheless it also shows the symbiotic allegiance to slavic mythology and european culture from the depths of the Pamir mountains and meadows through the slavic steppes up to the Balkan realms. Traditional bulgarian instruments like Gaida (bagpipe), Gadulka (balkan viola), Tamboura (big mandoline), Kaval (balkan shepherd flute), Ocarina, Clarinet, vocals in bulgarian, italian, english, lithuanian, Guitars and Drums arranged to a balkan post folk and avantgarde dark folk adventure with ambient drones, elements of Industrial & Black Metal and traditional compositions. Feat. very special guests like Kostas (Defile des Ames), Marcel P. (Allerseelen), Valentina (Der Feuerkreiner), Michael Z. (Negura Bunget) and Gyte Tamosiunate. All songs lead eachother through the central theme with snowsteps interludes recorded on the Hochries Mountain in Upper Bavaria and with a ritual lithuanian evocation. An album for the sparkling water which flows through europe, an album for the warm black earth, which lays a quilt over the ones, who stand strong through the fall of time, seen by the silvery eyes of the sky Tangra. Wake up sky - wake up stone - wake up earth - wake up water! I will be sky then - I will be stone then - I will be earth then - I will be water then! The album comes in a Digipack with 12 pages booklet, designed by the bulgarian photographer and artist Kaate Haate (Katia).

Then it moves deeply farther into esoterick electronick left-hand paths, where post-industrial noises copulate with minimal-electro sounds. And then it puts a malediction (or a prayer?) on the real enemy of humanity. And ends summoning the Proud Adversary of the true evil, a ritual invocation to the only and true Light-bringer! And then again more hell to tell ... 10 songs with Italian, English and Latin lyrics. Post-industrial laptop-punk & Satanicka esotericka electronicka at his very very beAst! THE JOY OF NATURE – The Empty Circle Part I || CD // 9,90 €

Label: Ahnstern | Origin: Portugal | Time: 61:50 | Release 2008

The Joy of Nature is a multimedia project from the Azores, with music as its main focus (the Azores are a group of 9 islands between Europe and North America, belonging to Portugal). It was created in 1999 as "The Joy of Nature and Discipline", and reduced to "The Joy of Nature" in 2006, following a change in its sound - more organic and acoustic. Musically, "The Joy of Nature" is like a serpent always renewing itself - never resting in one shape, changing the form but keeping the same essence. "Swirling Lands of Disquiet and Catharsis" is the first part of a trilogy entitled "The Empty Circle". Each part of the trilogy has a correspondence with the three main hermetic-alchemical phases: Nigredo, Albedo and Rubedo and, at the same time and correspondingly, to individual experience, inheritance of our ancestors and, finally, the overcoming of a mere individual state of existence. This first part corresponds to Nigredo. The subtitle of this work - "A Theatre lost in The Vast Abyss of Starry Skies" came in a lucid dream in which appeared the idea that this world in which we live our day-to-day lives can be compared to a small theatre in a vast abyss of starry skies. This album is about a world of disquiet, in which a catharsis should be done. To gather the impurities, realize their nature and build something pure from there. The music follows the concept - there are elements of Folk, Ambient, Psychedelic and Experimental music, mixed in a coherent way, creating a unique sound and a breathtaking atmosphere, predominantly acoustic and with dark tones.

THE JOY OF NATURE – The Empty Circle Part II || CD // 9,90 €

Label: Ahnstern | Origin: Portugal | Time: 65:29 | Release: 2009

"Rastos De Sangue E Fragmentos Da Tradição" (Trails of Blood and fragments of The Tradition) is the second part of the trilogy "The Empty Circle" by The Joy of Nature. It reflects and gathers fragments of the Perennial Tradition. Naturally, it is also about the Spiritual inheritance of the Portuguese ancestors. Musically, it's the most song-orientated The Joy of Nature release until now, with its roots in the folk tradition of rural Portuguese regions (it includes three covers of traditional songs), especially the Azores. The album is not just a Folk-album, it also has several amazing psychedelic moments. In this second part a lot more instruments were used and more musicians collaborated, like R. Coutinho, B. Ardo (Sangre Cavallum), Rui Almeida (Massa Última), Triarca, Mara Neves and M.J. Not only a reaction against the modern world, but an alternative to this post-modern world.

WERKRAUM – Early Love Music || DIGI-CD // 12,90 €

Label: Ahnster | Origin: Germany | Time: 61:30 | Release: 2008

14 progressive & traditional, psychedelic & medieval folk songs and chants of Early Love. 14 dreamy memories of the merry blue days from Early Times. Together with friends of the groups CHANGES, LADY MORPHIA and STURMPERCHT. "Early Love Music" is not just a Folk album. "Early Love Music" is a quantum leap for the new Folk generation of the third millennium and an enhanced assortment of early and new Folk-styles. Progressive and psychedelic folksongs mix up and alternate with british and german traditionals in the vein of early Donovan (HMS), Spirogyra, Shirley Collins, Mellow Candle, Ougenweide,... just to name a few. Some songs even have a songwriter-like character, as if they were played somewhere in the mid 60ies in a dark britanny forest by a suicidal Jackson C.Frank or Shawn Phillips. The complex arrangements and large variety of instruments even remind to The Incredible String Band and some early Acid-Folk bands. As a dot on the i, "Early Love Music" brings 2 coverversions of Donovan's ingenious fairytale "Jabberwocky" and Steeleye Span's traditional-hit "The Blacksmith". With "Song for Erik" Nicholas and Axel have created the sadest song ever sung, filling every father's eyes with a lake of tears.

WERKRAUM – Kristalle || DIGI-MCD // 6,90 €

Label: Ahnster | Origin: Germany | Time: 33:58 | Release: 2005

The recordings on "Kristalle" are all from the hand of Axel Frank from Berlin. "Kristalle" is the second official release of WERKRAUM, which however already exists for 7 years. On "Kristalle" Axel gets musical help in the WERKRAUM-project from members of the US Dark Folk band CHANGES and the British LADY MORPHIA. "Kristalle" has six tasteful songs at the intersection point of Neofolk and Medieval Folk, that speak of love, melancholy and longing to nature. Each song tells a little mythical story. 'Crystals' almost sounds like a dance. A dance from times long past. The music takes you back to those times. The vocals on this record sound like they are sung by a troubadour. At moments the songs tend to the avantgarde and psychedelic side, most notably of course in the Absinthe song 'La Fee Verte', which is not very strange considering the involvement of members of CHANGES. Comparisons with the psychedelic folkgroup IN GOWAN RING are never far distant although WERKRAUM also uses electronics to create atmospheres. The release is nicely packaged in a luxury digipack, in which the lyrics and a collection of photo's are enclosed. This is quite a tasteful and pleasurable EP.

WINTERBLUT – Leichenstandard || LP // 14,90 €

Label: Nuclear War Now! | Origin: Germany | Time: --- | Release: 2011

This new LP consists of a recording of album length material recorded in 1998-99 that was only previously released in an edition of 11 CD-Rs and given out by L'Hiver himself to those worthy of hearing the material. Consequently, for the past decade, the magnificent "Leichenstandard" album has been effectively lost. L'Hiver decided at last, however, to now give the recording the proper vinyl release that it deserves. Like other Winterblut material, this LP is, in L'Hiver's characteristically atypical style, an excursion into the bleakest realms of the human psyche and soul. The six tracks contained here offer some of Winterblut's most cold and hateful and also truly original tracks. Constructed from dissonant melodies and irregular rhythmic patterns, this album demonstrates the contorted style of Black Metal that is exclusively the province of Winterblut. With this LP, "Leichenstandard" will finally have a formal release, however, because it is limited to just 250 copies, it may soon find itself sinking back once more into obscurity.

The final full lenght album of Oulu-based BELIAL - all of the remaining members played also in IMPALED NAZARENE. Belial started as a Black/Death Metal band. With the loss of guitarist Jukka Valppu, the band headed in a more progressive rock/punk direction. The album "3" features material drastically different than that which appeared on the first releases, and is considered gothic rock/punk. The album's title is also a nod to Led Zeppelin, as rather than naming the release, they dubbed it "3" since it was their third album.

RAISON D'ÊTRE – In Sadness, Silence And Solitude || CD // 19,90 €

Label: Cold Meat Industry | Origin: Sweden | Time: 50:47 | Condition: 1/1 | Release: 1997

The fourth album by Swedish darkwave act Raison d'Être opens with sounds of bubbling water, followed by a frightening cavernous rumble that trails off into calming Gregorian chant. It's a series of events that proves emblematic of the disc as a whole: a marriage of sounds both ugly and beautiful, as if to prove that the concepts exist only in relation to each other. Sweeping, epic keyboard washes, tranquil medieval voices, but always the distant rumbling, the unsettling dark ambiance, the sense that all is not well in this cold, dimly lit dungeon Raison d'Être have constructed. It's a fine return to form for the band, whose debut, 1993's Prospectus I, saw them embark on this strange journey but whose previous album, Within the Depths of Silence and Phormations, leaned a bit too far into the realm of industrial noise for many fans.

SUN OF NOTHING – ... And Voices, Words,... || CD // 9,90 €

Label: Blast Beat Mailmurder | Origin: Greece | Time: 59:21 | Condition: 1/1 | Release: 2003
The first track of Sun of Nothing's full length debut will weed out the weak right away. "Thank You" is comprised of a good 13 minutes of frequency squall and drone. Hang in there though and the listener is rewarded with a truly intense amalgam of noise, grind, black metal and oozing Sludgecore like you've never heard. The four members comprising SUN OF NOTHING turn their collective backs on the popular in favor of something completely aurally devastating, totally void of crowd-friendly anthemic chants, melody, harmony and pyro guitar solos. Sun of Nothing create one helluva dark piece of work whose pure visceral impact can only be matched by U.S. contemporaries like Hellblock 6, Rwake, Noothgrush and Mugwart. Ilias Apostolakis' vocals are unnerving (and unintelligible) shrieks and screams through a veil of scar tissue - even in songs like the Southern groove-driven "Kick", Ilias's obtuse utterances darken what could be a riff straight out of an ATP song with a breakdown worthy of the song's title. It's a weird, unsettling combination. "Purge Reality (The Revenge)" pits sludgecore riffs with black metal blastbeats and speedcore breakdowns. "Diablo" starts with a menacing, acoustic intro and just as suddenly as it begins breaks into riff that could be right at home in Norway, circa '91 and a midsection that slows to a dead crawl... all plodding bass riff and percussion before the whole cacophony begins again, this time with a steady muted crunch that sounds as if were played on steel cables. "...And Voices" is steeped in anarchistic brilliance and DIY ethic. All that is good in extreme music, compiled in 60 minutes. Digpack.
